The Redmont Park Historical District* at the Crest of Red Mountain is recognized as Alabama's finest collection of residential architecture at the time of its development and is the state's second oldest garden landscaped area. Snuggled between English Village (Mountain Brook) and Highland Avenue (Southside) this area is a short stroll or quick drive to fine dining, cafes, retail shops, UAB or the financial district and a "reverse" commute for those that travel to North Shelby County. (*subject to architectural/design review www.bhistorical.org)
